

TRANSITION

Retiring: VERMONT ROYSTER, 56, editor of The Wall Street Journal since 1958, a gentle-humored North Carolinian who joined the Journal as a reporter in 1936, expects to leave early next year but plans to continue writing for the paper "in my spasmodic way," besides working on a book and perhaps teaching; announced in New York City, Dec. 16.